BIG SALE OF TIMBER LAND

Preston S. Warn has completed the purchase of the Dunmore Land & Timber Company land for himself and some Johnstown capitalists. The timber will be operated without delay by a new company now being formed called the Warn Lumber Corporation. The tract consists of thirteen thousand acres and lies on the waters of Knapps Creek and Sitlington Creek, in this county, and on Back Creek, in Highland County, Virginia, on both sides of the main Alleghany Mountain.

The lumber will come to the Greenbrier Division either at the mouth of Sitlington Creek or Thorny Creek, both routes being under consideration. So far as we can learn, it is undecided whether the lumber will be sawed at the Warn Lumber Company's plant at Mill Point or a new town built.

The civil service rules have changed the method of reappointing fourth class postmasters to some extent. A notice is now posted at the end of the term and an opportunity is given any eligible person to make application and then the choice is made by inspector where the office pays less than $180.00 a year. If more than there is a competitive examination. The rule has not worked exactly as it must have been intended, in that old and experienced postmasters at small places have been slow in making applications in many instances, and have run the risk of discontinuance of the office, which is a serious thing in any populous neighborhood. Now is the time to hand the old postmaster a few bouquets and tell him (or her) how much you appreciate his working for nothing, payable quarterly.

There is a strong demand throughout the District for the nomination of Hon. John C. Dice Congress. Mr. Dice comes from our neighboring county of Greenbrier and is a splendid Democrat. He was a leader in the West Virginia Legislature and will make an ideal candidate as a distinguished representative if he is elected. And this brings up the thought that Kanawha county has had, this honor long enough, and the fighting Democrats of the Third District believe that it should be passed around, and the nomination given to some other county than Kanawha. There is no doubt but that Mr. Dice will make a most aggressive campaign, and will carry the banner of Democracy to a well earned victory.

A number of post offices of the fourth class were taken up this week during the inspector's visit to the county. The following post masters are the applicants for the various offices and will in all probability be appointed for another term: Hosterman, Samuel Moore; Mace, J. S. Mace; Slaty Fork, L. D. Sharp; Edray, Geo. P. Moore or A. R. Gay; Spice, Lock McCoy Buckeye, two applicants; August, two applicants; Stony Bottom, W. R.
